Notes for High School Sudents in grades 9-12 who are wanting to take classes on multiple days.

Many high school students want to take classes on multiple days at Summit. We are going to try to accommodate the class choices of our 9-12th grade students, however, health regulations are likely to be in place, which will impact class size and the ability to grant all the class requests. Students, by day, are in "cohorts". Cohorts also have an impact on students attending classes on multiple days. Please read the following, so that you are aware of considerations that may affect your student's schedule.

Requesting Classes:

- 1. We are allowing part time and full time students to request classes on multiple days.
- 2. When signing up, put each day's class choices on an online form. You will need to do multiple forms for multiple days, choosing the class day in the pull down menu.
- 3. All 9-12th grade students are limited to 8 hours.
- 4. Classes for the 2nd day will be filled as space is available based on the following priority:
 - a. Full time students needing to meet a graduation requirement.
 - b. Part time students, with an academic conflict.
 - c. Elective classes.

Cohorts:

Cohorts: Each day's students are considered a cohort. The purpose of a cohort is to isolate students should there be an outbreak of Covid at Summit. At this time, an "outbreak" has not been defined. As an example of how cohorts are expected to work, if Wednesday has an outbreak, then we would clean the building that night, and Thursday's students would be able to attend. Wednesday students would need to stay out for a few days, however, since our students attend one day a week, that really isn't an issue.

HOWEVER, if a Wednesday student, for example, also attends on another day, they would not be able to attend the other days classes during the time students are asked not to return. If students are asked to stay out three days, a Wednesday student would not be able to attend on Thursday or Friday that week.

We are working on Live Streaming of classes, so that students can participate from home.
